Emailing a document is incredibly easy using Acrobat!

Click on the envelope icon and Acrobat will give you options of how you'd like to send the current document. Once you choose a program, a new email message will open with the current PDF you are viewing automatically attached.

Search tools in

Acrobat are extremely user friendly. There are 2 options, both highlighted on the picture to the right.

- The magnifying glass will only search the document you are currently viewing, once clicked on, a small blue box will appear in the upper right corner of the window. Type a word and press enter then use the "next" or "previous" button to scroll through occurrences. This feature is best used on a particular page, or a few pages.
- The binoculars give more advanced search options by allowing you to choose the current document, or all the documents in a particular folder of your choosing. The results are listed in order of tab number and page number. By clicking on a result, you will be taken to that document and the term will be highlighted for you on the page itself.

About OCR / Text Recognition

The pages you are viewing are high resolution scans that have had a text recognition software run on them.

This allows us to provide search-ability without compromising the accuracy of the original document.

Both versions of software may rotate, sharpen or deskew the document in order to recognize the text properly. On clean documents, such as opinions, it is 99.9% accurate. The accuracy does drop on faxes and poor quality documents. For some poor quality images, we may run a software called Optical Character Recognition (OCR), which further enhances the image, allowing the text to be recognized more accurately.

A useful quality of the search feature is that it takes the accuracy of OCR and the possibility of errors into account and compensates for it. For example, if you are searching for "ACME", the search engine comes across "AEME" on a poor quality image and highlights it.

The Zoom Feature is located on the toolbar. It's represented by a plus (+) and minus (-) sign. Acrobat will display what zoom level you are viewing next to the zoom tools on the toolbar.
